

Scenario - John

John finally gets home from his 9-5 boring job and wants to sit down and enjoy his hobby of reading. He looks around his apartment and sees how empty and quiet it is and decides to start reading. Unfortunately, he currently doesn't have a new book to read as he's already gone through his current books and gets depressed. He wants to find more fantasy books to read easily and fast.

Scenario - Logan

Logan comes home and goes onto his computer and feels a bit lonely without his friends there with him. His dog cheers him up but he still feels a bit down that his friends aren't into his hobby. He tries to start reading some new science and science fiction books while thinking of his friends and would love to share his hobby with them. After a short while, he finishes his current stock of books and would love to find more books. Maybe some that his friends would enjoy.

Scenario - Raffaele

It's the week before Christmas and Raffaele has been put in charge of organizing the Christmas lunch. He has been wishing for this day to come, his parents have never let him cook for this day because they think his dishes are too extravagant, but this year they want to try something new. The problem is, Raffaele has no idea what he should cook, he knows that his guests are expecting something they have never had before, but he feels like nothing he can offer is innovative enough.

Scenario - Caroline

It's almost 2 am and Caroline is reading a book under her covers, shining the flashlight of her phone against the pages to be able to see. She always preferred to read at night, it made the whole experience so much better. The thing is, she can't concentrate. Today some boys at her school had spray-painted the word "freak" on her locker, and as she was cleaning and crying, she noticed that people were only laughing and no one was going to help her.

Scenario - Oliver

Oliver is preparing for his next class at his desk at home. He is absentmindedly listening to his wife sing while preparing dinner, she has always done that and he loves it. He has been thinking about assigning a new book to read, but nothing that he has in his library seems good enough. They are all long, old books that can be in no way appealing to a young college student, but he has no idea where to find new titles.